Internship Profile

Job Title:	Market Intelligence & AI Intern (Pravritti)
Job Description:	About D2S – Data to Supply: At Purplle, the D2S (Data to Supply) division bridges the gap between raw data and actionable business improvements. As a vital part of our organization, D2S leverages state-of-the-art AI tools and advanced data analytics to decode complex market dynamics and capture evolving consumer sentiments. Our work centers on identifying new business opportunities and need spaces, launching innovative products, and enhancing demand generation across our platform. D2S is also instrumental in transforming influencer marketing by scouting and analyzing creators to optimize campaigns, ensuring our marketing efforts are both efficient and impactful. In addition, we drive internal projects aimed at refining operational processes and developing advanced tools that support Purplle's goals. With a focus on exploring emerging technologies like AI agents, we integrate insights from both internal and external data sources to deliver personalized, data-driven experiences in the beauty and personal care industry while continuously fueling innovation and growth. Role Overview: As a Market Intelligence & AI Intern, you will harness AI agents to gather and analyze market trends and consumer behavior insights that are directly applicable to Purplle's beauty and personal care offerings. Your role is to use these advanced tools to extract actionable data that informs our product strategies and demand generation efforts.

Key Responsibilities:
 AI-Driven Market Analysis:
 Utilize AI agents to aggregate and analyze market data related to beauty and personal care trends.
 Extract insights on consumer preferences, competitor activities, and emerging product categories.
 Consumer Insight Generation:
 Leverage AI-powered tools to monitor and interpret digital signals like social media trends, online reviews, and other signals relevant to Purple's offerings.
 Identify shifts in consumer behavior and emerging demand patterns.
 Actionable Reporting:
 Synthesize insights into clear, actionable recommendations that can drive product development and marketing strategies.
 Present findings to support strategic decision-making for new product launches and demand enhancement initiatives.
